

Architecture New Zealand, July / August 2008

Peka Peka Competition

If you're up on Wellington's Kapiti Coast you might soon have cause to stop in for a peek at Peka Peka.

National building product database Productspec is sponsoring a bach design competition for a six-acre site there. Competition winner Katya Gibb, a graduate architect at Custance Associates mentored by Tim Nees, was chosen from six finalists.

Ms Gibb's design follows the natural contours of the land with the living areas riding over a small dune to look out over Kapiti Island. The project has begun the consent process and building is planned to start within the year.